GRAVE FOREST SITUATION FOLLOWS SEPTEMBER HURRICANE

Woodland problems of timber salvage and fire control created in many towns by the September hurricane are of the greatest importance. GOOD CITIZENSHIP CALLS FOR PERSONAL AND WIDESPREAD ACTION!

The salvage value of blowdown and storm-killed timber means money for landowners, wages for workers employment for trucks, teams and machinery, as well as reduced forest fire hazard for all. If owners of windthrown timber have not yet acted, they should communicate with those who can help. TOWN CHAIRMEN are fully informed. STATE ADVISORY AGENTS can help to start logging by suggesting names of operators and giving other useful advice. FEDERAL AGENCIES are increasing the number of log storage places as rapidly as possible. INDIVIDUALS MUST NOW COOPERATE!

Forest fire danger for several years will be greater than usual. So much work must be done by public agencies to reduce hurricane and along roadsides, near improved and other exposed areas that many places will remain hazardous for some time to come. INDIVIDUAL LANDOWNERS MUST TAKE A PERSONAL INTEREST! Aid in clean-up work through the Agricultural Conservation Program is available to any woodland owner at $4.00 per acre on areas up to 15 acres. The County Agent should be consulted.

Support your local Forest Fire Wardens and Deputies. They are planning, with State and Federal Agencies, an intensive campaign to control fires. Help them by strict observance of the fire laws. Kindle no open fires without a permit from the warden except when the ground is covered with snow. Co-operate by reporting fires you may see and in other ways. Fire fighting tool supplies are inadequate and should be reasonably increased by many towns. YOU CAN HELP, AND IT WILL PAY, TO PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

It may be noted that the total expenditures for relief and old age assistance in the town of Exeter for the fiscal year ending

January 31, 1939, exceeded that of the year 1937 by $937.15, While there has been a slight increase in the relief load the chief reason for the increased cost lies in the fact that there was a considerable reduction in the amount of reimbursement received from the state of New Hampshire on direct relief. In 1937, the state reimbursed cities and towns to the extent of 50% on total expenditures. The state has not participated in any reimbursement on direct relief costs since May, 1938. Whether the state will reimburse to any extent this fiscal year will be entirely dependent on the action of our present legislature. The state and the Federal government do reimburse to the extent of 75% on all old age assistance grants.

Last March the town budget committee reduced the relief appropriation $2,000.00, as an interpretation of the new settlement law by the state attorney general indicated that there would be a general transfer of town cases to the county commissioners. A reversal of the decision of the attorney general by the State Supreme Court made it necessary for the town to keep practically her same relief load.

Respectfully submitted,

HAROLD T. FRENCH,

Relief Agent.

Early in the year W. P. A. workers were obtained to clean the books which harbored a liberal amount of dust. Then an inventory was taken with the unusually good record of only 12 fiction and 21 non-fiction in the adult collection, and two fiction, seven non-fiction in the juvenile missing over a period of four years.

Various added activities have been made possible by the services of a trained W. P. A. worker sent from the State Library Commission in May. A great need for more subject headings to bring out in the catalog material on related topics in books widely separated on the shelves had been evident, so the work of examining the non-fiction to assign subjects, typing cards for these, and filing in the catalog began. This work has continued throughout the year, the adult fiction having been listed under subject or historical period whenever possible to aid the students in obtaining book reports on special topics, such as "Negroes," or some particular period in history. We hope during the ensuing year to complete as far as possible this project. Obviously, in a small library where not many books on a given subject are available, it is more essential to bring to the reader's attention any chapters or parts of books dealing with that subject which would not be found ordinarily, because the book as a whole is concerned with another subject, or perhaps is a collection under some general heading.

The library was kept open to the public during the Tercentenary Celebration, June 30-July 5, with a special display of eighteenth century Exeter imprints in a show case in the lobby. When school began in the fall, Miss Diman and Mrs. MacNabb from the High School each brought several classes in the morning for instruction in the resources of the library. Book Week, November 14-19, was observed in co-operation with the English and Art teachers in the schools. Posters and book jackets for various books were made by the pupils and displayed in the juvenile room. "A Magic Highway to Adventure" meandered through new books and scenes from fairy tales directed one's attention to younger children's stories. Tom Sawyer, whitewashing the fence, brought forth exclamations, "Why, it's real grass!" Each child who came voted for his favorite book; the winner proved to be the Dutch Twins. Over the Christmas holidays the children's room was brightened by a Christmas tree, stockings hung at the fireplace, and a silhouette in the front window.

By popular request, the rental shelf was revived to supplement the circulating copies for such books as "Rebecca" and "Alone." Without doubt they, with "All This and Heaven, Too" and "Listen, the Wind," have been more in demand than any others. The circulation increased 10,000, although the income from the Merrill funds has decreased. From the preceding statistics it will be noted that 166 were purchased from Merrill funds whereas last year we were able to buy 330 with the funds. In June, Elinor Saunders, a student from Simmons College School of Library Science, came to do field work, and observe the methods of a small library. Doris Armstrong again attended the Summer Library School at the University of New Hampshire sponsored by the State Library Commission.

Pamphlet and picture filing cases have been purchased and placed beside the catalog behind the desk. A great deal remains to be done in building up these collections. The binding of the old books and Exeter imprints in the locked case have been crumbling so badly that they have been oiled with a preservative by a friend interested in early Exeter; 710 books were mended; the window frames were painted and repaired. Window boxes of flowers added to the attractiveness of the exterior during the summer months.

At the State Library meeting last August it was voted to start a union catalog of all non-fiction in the state which would enable the state librarian to locate quickly at some other library any given title when requested either by another library or private individual. In other words, the State Library serves as a clearing house for inter-library loans. Since we borrowed a number of volumes through this source last year, we try to do our part in the co-operative by sending lists of our non-fiction titles for the catalog.

The library board has lost its oldest member, oldest in years as well as in length of service. James A. Tufts had been a faithful member of the board for more than thirty years. His interest in library activities extended beyond the limits of the town. For several years he had been president of the State Library Commission. In his relations with his colleagues at the Exeter Library he was co-operative and cordial, never insistent on personal whims, always ready to support any move that might be made to improve the library. And during the long years of his responsibility as a member he had seen the library make great advances in its ability to serve the community, and had contributed his part toward the progress. The library recognizes its debt to him, and mourns its loss.

Changes in Personnel

Miss Katherine Deering, M.A., Wellesley, was selected to succeed Miss Cecile Sauve as teacher of French in the lower grades, while Miss Sauve replaced Miss Nancy Millett in charge of the upper classes. Miss Millett was married in September.

Miss Denise Hilliard, a graduate of Katherine Gibbs School, replaced Miss Brennamann as secretary to the principal.

Relations with Post-Secondary Institutions

For those pupils who plan to continue their formal education at a post-secondary institution, the writer would like to mention the requirements they should consider. Many think of graduation from the Seminary as the key to any future plan, and, for that reason, some are disappointed.

The first consideration is the curriculum, which must be selected with reference to the courses required by the post-secondary institution. Robinson Seminary cannot offer a program flexible enough to meet plans made at the eleventh hour, so the writer has placed emphasis on early planning. A desire to exceed the minimum requirements of a certain type of institution will give to the pupil a greater freedom of choice when the time for selection comes.

Scholastic records weigh quite heavily in the final analysis, and some pupils do not try seriously enough until it is too late to create a favorable impression. Competition in all fields is much keener than in the past, so only those with good scholastic records receive serious consideration.

Personality, that factor which the individual pupils must appreciate and endeavor to develop, is very important. If a pupil seems to lack the personality for a special type of work, she should appreciate the mention of the fact and should make a sincere effort to improve. Such guidance is a part of the responsibility of the secondary school.

Reading Program

Recently, more and more emphasis has been placed on reading tests and remedial programs to correct the weaknesses discovered. Early in the fall term, the Nelson Reading Test was given to Grades 7 and 8. This test attempts to measure the pupils' comprehension of word and paragraph meanings.

Later, as a part of a survey in all the Exeter public schools, the Iowa Reading Test was administered to Grades 7-12 inclusive. In addition to word and paragraph meaning, the Iowa Test considers sentence meaning, selection of the central idea, use of an index, and outlining; the composite score of the above being known as the comprehension score. The rate of reading is the last feature of the test.

In each class, there are young ladies two or three grades below the standard and others three grades in advance in reading ability, a range of six grades within a single class. What is the problem?

Those above the standard need only a continuance of the proper interest in their work. Those pupils below the standard, with mental ability to do better, fall in at least two general classes: those with defective vision; and those with poor reading habits. There are, of course, a few below the standard who are working up to their capacity and for whom no great change can be expected. The real problem is to find out the causes of the weaknesses and assist those capable of improving. Since individuals vary greatly, small groups will be the general rule.

The Seminary has accepted the challenge present in the results of the reading tests.

Pupil Activities

An experience which the Seminary girls will always cherish was the participation in the Tercentenary celebration last summer. Both in the pageant and field hockey game, they made a valuable contribution. So well did they co-operate with the director of the pageant that he said it was the finest group he had ever worked with. The Seminary is proud of the impression made.

Another exceedingly valuable student enterprise was the operetta, "The Fountain of Youth," presented just prior to the Christmas holidays.

The value of this project was evident to all who participated in the production of it, namely, the co-operation of the Exeter High School and Robinson Seminary faculties and student bodies in an entertainment which was a challenge to the young people. The music was more difficult than any attempted in previous entertainments, but the results testified to the untiring effort of Mrs. Marguerite Johnson and the students and the committees that assisted.

The writer wishes to endorse the plan recently offered the pupils of Exeter to obtain instruction in instrumental music at a low cost. A large orchestra in the schools could easily become a source of great civic pride.

Gift of the Alumnae Association

The attractive bronze tablets at the three entrances to the Seminary grounds are evidence of the kindly interest of the Alumnae Association. They met a real need and were appreciated by all connected with the school.

The program at the December meeting of the association was regarded by the writer as a genuine courtesy to the younger members and present students. Calling on the present student talent as it did, it formed a bond between the past and present which should assist any institution.

In Memory of Mr. Tufts

For ten years it was the writer's privilege to know and to work with Mr. James A. Tufts, and this association made a profound impression. By his death, the Seminary lost a faithful trustee and friend, and the town, one of its outstanding citizens. In his kind, quiet manner, he moulded his life into the progress of two local institutions of learning, and this genial scholarly gentleman will be long and pleasantly remembered.

Respectively submitted,

JAMES A. PIRNIE,

Principal.
